DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. The amendment filed 26 December 2001 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132 because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132 states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: "curved upper surfaces".

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Specification

2. The specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter. See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o). Correction of the following is required: There is no support in the specification for the claimed "curved upper surfaces" set forth in claim 22.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claims 22 and 31-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. There is no support in the specification for the claimed "curved upper surfaces" set forth in claim 22.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 22 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Kleine et al. (US 3,905,100).

Insofar as the claimed invention is understood to be, Kleine discloses all the positively recited elements of the invention including:

- a) a panel (e.g., 16);
- b) a plurality of blocks having upper surfaces (e.g., 14);
- c) a cutting mechanism (e.g., 18).

If argued that the curved upper surfaces are disclosed, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to provide curved upper surfaces, since applicant has not disclosed that curved upper surfaces solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose and it appears that the invention would perform equally well with flat surfaces.

Art Unit: 3724

8. Claims 22 and 31-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Martin (US 154,694).

Insofar as the claimed invention is understood to be, Martin discloses all the positively recited elements of the invention including:

- d) a panel (e.g., A);
- e) a plurality of blocks having upper surfaces (e.g., h);
- f) a cutting mechanism (e.g., col. 2, line 2);
- g) pins (e.g., E, B);
- h) an actuator (e.g., J).

If argued that the curved upper surfaces are disclosed, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to provide curved upper surfaces, since applicant has not disclosed that curved upper surfaces solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose and it appears that the invention would perform equally well with flat surfaces.

9. Claim 34 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Martin (US 154,694).

Martin discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for a pneumatically powered actuator. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ a pneumatically powered actuator, since it has been held that broadly providing a mechanical or automatic means to replace manual activity which has accomplished the same result involves only routine skill in the art. In re Venner, 120 USPQ 192. Furthermore, the use of pneumatic device is old and well known in the art for the purpose of operating an actuator.

Response to Arguments

10. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 22 that Martin and Klein fail to teach the blocks having curved upper surfaces have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

11. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 34 filed 26 December 2001 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant contends that Martin does not disclose an actuator beneath the panel. The examiner respectfully directs the applicant's attention to Figure 4 where the element (J) is beneath the element (A).

Conclusion

12. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
